

Reinventing PR3

March 3, 4

Seattle, WA

Purpose: In February 2007, the Committee revised the new pricing methodology for service projects known as PR-3. This pricing system reflects the Committee's philosophy to mirror commercial market practices and provide more flexibility to contracting officers and CRPs. This workshop was designed and developed by NISH team members in partnership with federal government customers and CRP business partners.

Audience: CRPs performing an AbilityOne service contract, federal government staff who work on services under the AbilityOne Program
